Rabattre le coin supérieur droit

	 A pair of hands is shown folding a light green triangular piece of paper on a dark wooden surface. The hands are positioned to bring the corners of the triangle together, creating a smaller, more complex folded shape.
	 The final result of the folding process is shown. The light green paper is now folded into a complex, three-dimensional shape that resembles a small pyramid or a folded envelope, resting on the same dark wooden surface.
